The editor of the best medical periodical in England, the "Medico-Chirurgical Review and Journal of Practical Medicine," speaking in the name of his professional brethren, gives effervescent "saline medicines" the preference over all others, because they open the secretory organs—as the skin, the liver, and the kidneys,—besides improving the condition of the blood, and restraining febrile action in the constitution. It is for these sufficient reasons that physicians everywhere are prescribing

In fevers, bilious disorders, stomach complaints, and all diseases in which it is desirable to restore and regulate the interrupted functions of the digestive and discharging organs, without creating irritation, or giving the system a violent shock. The elements of disease can be expelled by evaporation from the surface, as well as through the intestines, and this preparation is at once a purgative and sudorific. Nine-tenths of the ordinary complaints to which children and adults are subject may be cured, by a few draughts of this sparkling and refreshing corrective.

TO THE READER.

SOME may think it entirely unnecessary to make any remarks by way of introduction to a work of this nature; but when the multitude of Guide-Books, Hand-Books, and Directories is considered, we feel justified in simply stating the "wherefore" which calls this work into existence. To the descriptions of New York and vicinity which have already been published, it has been justly objected that they contain mere descriptions of buildings, etc., which fail to arrest the attention or impart that information which books of this character are expected to afford. To remedy these and other objections, this work has been compiled with great care, as to noting every object of interest in and about New York, giving "correct information" in detail, and combining, what seems to be a great want, "business with pleasure." To strangers, therefore, visiting New York, this work is intended as a correct guide to all places of interest and amusement; also as a guide to ladies and gentlemen in the purchase of goods. They will find the location of almost every kind of business in the advertising pages; and the stores there indicated are of the most reliable character, as we have allowed only those of the best standing to use our work as an advertising medium.

We have also thought it proper to incorporate in this work a Guide to the Hudson River, Saratoga, and Lake George, which we feel assured will prove of interest to the citizen and stranger.

We also wish it distinctly understood that the Compiler has not hesitated to gather the materials for this work wherever he could find them, availing himself in the freest manner, not only of the researches of others, but even of their very language, whenever it happened to suit his purpose.

NEW YORK.

THE Island of Manhattan was discovered by Henry Hudson in 1609, and settled by immigrants from Holland in 1614. The West India Company in 1626 purchased the entire island, containing 22,000 acres, from the Indians, for sixty guilders, or twenty-four dollars. From its earliest period, the then called "Nieuw Amsterdam" had a varied history. The English regarded it as a valuable acquisition, and took it from the Dutch in 1664, who succeeded, however, in recovering it in 1676. About one year thereafter it was ceded again to the British, and received the name of New York, in honor of James, Duke of York. In 1666 the city contained two hundred houses and about one thousand inhabitants. From that early period to the present it has made great progress in buildings, population, and governmental arrangements.

The present population of the city is about one million. New York is the largest and most wealthy city on this Continent. Its commercial relations extend to the "uttermost parts of the earth."

The length of the city from the southern to the northern portion is twelve miles, with an average width of two miles. The streets and avenues above Fourteenth street run at right angles. A fine view of New York and vicinity may be had from Trinity Church steeple.

New York possesses very many buildings, both public and private, of rare beauty and elegance, together with the parks, places of amusement, churches, hotels, &c., to which we hasten to invite attention.

CENTRAL PARK.

There is probably no place on the Island of Manhattan of equal interest to the stranger or citizen with Central Park. In 1858 work was commenced on it, and in about one year it was thrown open to the public. Up to the present time, ten million dollars have been expended upon it. It contains eight hundred and fifty acres, is two and a half miles long, and half a mile wide: extending from Fifty-ninth to One Hundred and Tenth street, and from Fifth to Eighth avenue. It is, with three exceptions, the largest park in the world. It has over nine miles of carriage-drive and twenty-five miles of walk. Three hundred and ten thousand trees and shrubs have been planted, and workmen are constantly employed in improving and planting flowers, shrubbery, &c. There are about thirty-four archways and bridges of great variety and exquisite beauty, no two being alike. The Terrace is the leading architectural structure. This is at the end of the Mall on the north. Below it is the Esplanade, with a beautiful fountain in the centre. There is so much beauty in the Park, and in such great variety, that it is impossible within the limits of this work to mention it in detail. It possesses all that is picturesque,—lake, stream, hill, valley, rock, plain and slope. During the skating season great numbers frequent the Park, as the lakes are free to all. When the ice is in good condition, a red ball is hoisted on the Arsenal building, (within the Park,) and the city cars, running to the Park, indicate by small flags when the skating is good.

At the gates of the Park are to be found carriages for hire. Not being under the control of the Park Commissioners, they are not responsible for their regulation or charges. The great attractions of the Park are only to be seen by taking the foot-paths. Throughout the Park are to be found the police, dressed in gray suits, who are required to give any information about the Park to visitors, and to preserve order.

The Park may be reached by the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth avenue cars, also by the Central Park, North and East River Railroads, either division, up West or South streets. None of the stages run within seventeen blocks of the Park. The above are the only lines of cars that run to the Park gates. Some other lines advertise to run there, whereas they do not run within a half a mile of it.

THE BATTERY.

This once beautiful promenade of the fashion and elite of New York has been converted into a landing place for immigrants and the rendezvous for immigrant runners, thieves, pickpockets and ruffians of "the baser sort." Originally it was a delightful retreat in the summer time for pleasure seekers, who sought the fresh sea-air under the shade of its stately trees. Connected with it is Castle Garden, originally a fortification, but now used by the Commissioner of Emigration. The beauty and glory of both have departed.

CITY HALL PARK.

This also has lost its attractions. Within its enclosure is the City Hall, Hall of Records, New Court House, Rotunda, Old Court House, Fountain and statue of what is intended to represent De Witt Clinton. It is supposed that a new Post Office building will be erected on the southern portion of this Park.

Great Improvement in Writing-Pens.

This celebrated Patent is constructed upon purely scientific principles involved in the use of two lateral arches or corrugations upon the back, acting in opposition to the usual forward arch or bowl of the pen, ensuring a perfect pen in the important particulars of strength, elasticity, evenness of point, and smoothness of execution.

These pens are sold by all stationers, or may be procured of the Manufacturers by mail, prepaid, on receipt of price, as follows:

One dozen SCIENTIFIC PENS (assorted points) and INK-RETAINING PEN-HOLDER, 50 cents.

SCIENTIFIC GOLD PEN ($3) with INK-RETAINING HOLDER, $4.50.

A GOLD PEN is given away to the purchaser of each 12th gross (or fraction of 12th gross) of STEEL PENS, bought of a retail stationer.

Orders from the trade solicited. Liberal terms to agents.

CITY HALL.

This is a very fine edifice, of the Corinthian order of architecture, with a marble front, and sides and rear of sandstone. Erected between the years 1803 and 1810. In the building are the several offices of the Mayor, Aldermen, and Common Council rooms, Governor's rooms, containing portraits of Governors of the State and Mayors of the City. Open daily.

CUSTOM HOUSE.

This building was formerly the Merchants' Exchange. Is located on the square bounded by Wall and Exchange Place and William and Hanover streets. The material is of Quincy granite. Front on Wall street two hundred feet, with a depth of one hundred and seventy-one feet. The portico, of eighteen Ionic columns, imparts to it an imposing effect. Erected in 1836, at a cost of two million dollars.

UNITED STATES TREASURY,

Corner of Wall and Nassau streets, is a beautiful building, of the Doric order of Grecian architecture, in imitation of the celebrated Pantheon at Athens. Fronting on Wall street there are eight Grecian columns, thirty-two feet high, with a corresponding number on Pine street. Cost of the building and grounds, $1,200,000.

NEW COURT HOUSE.

This immense building, now in process of construction, is situated in the rear of the City Hall, on Chamber street, and will be, when completed, one of the most substantial edifices in the United States. It was commenced in the fall of 1861, but it is impossible to determine when it will be finished. The entire length of the building is two hundred and fifty feet, and the breadth one hundred and fifty; rectangular in form, and three stories in height, above ground. From the base course to the top of pediment, is ninety-seven feet. The dome will be one hundred and twenty-eight feet high, above the pediment; making a total height of the building, from the base course to the top of the dome, two hundred and twenty-five feet.

The original cost was estimated at about $2,000,000, but, thus far, over $3,000,000 have been expended upon it.

It is constructed of marble and iron, and is an entirely fire-proof building.

The court-rooms are large, airy, and unobstructed by columns, made with reference to the principles of acoustics, and finished in an agreeable and pleasing manner; so that they form an attractive feature to the spectator, and all to whom may be intrusted the administration of justice.

THE NEW POST OFFICE.

A plan for this building has at last been decided upon, and it will be put up under the superintendence of five architects, at a cost of $3,500,000. The work will commence as soon as Congress makes the appropriation. The building will cover the whole plot of ground, and made of granite, marble, and iron. The style of architecture is the pure French Renaissance. It will be three stories high, surmounted by a Mansard roof, marked by a centre pavilion four stories high. The pavilion in front will be 160 feet high, and the building facing the City Hall will be 320 feet in length. The first story will be 22 feet high, composed of arched openings, supported upon square piers; the second will be 18 feet high, and the third 16. The style of the building is that of the Tuileries and the Hotel de Ville. The building will display the following statues: America, Commerce, Industry, Washington, Franklin, Justice, History, Peace, Strength, Truth, Genius of the Arts, Virtue, Honor, Literature, Mechanics, Genius of Science, Agriculture, and Navigation. The public corridor will be 25 feet wide, and 600 feet in length, entered from Broadway and Park Row. The building can be completed, it is claimed, in two years. Clocks are to be placed at various points around the building for the accommodation of the public.

NEW YORK UNIVERSITY.

This magnificent piece of architecture is located on the east side of Washington square. The edifice is of marble, and has a front of two hundred feet, with a depth of about eighty feet. The University was established in 1831, and has ever maintained a high and noble reputation.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE.

This is the oldest Institution of the kind in the city, having been established in 1754. The present structure, located on Forty-ninth street near Fifth avenue, was erected in 1855. It has a very fine library of twenty thousand volumes.

COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS.

This Institution is located at 53 East Twenty-third street, near Fourth avenue. It was founded in 1807. Has a fine library and an anatomical museum. Visitors admitted to the museum on application at the College.

UNION THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY

COLLEGE OF ST. FRANCIS XAVIER.

This Institution is located in Fifteenth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues. It was founded in 1850. Is under the management and direction of the Roman Catholics.

WARD SCHOOLS.

There are about two hundred and eighty of these valuable institutions in New York. Many of them have very fine buildings, that are alike an ornament and an honor to the city.

UNIVERSITY MEDICAL SCHOOL.

In Fourteenth street, between Irving place and Third avenue. This institution has a very fine library, and an extensive museum. Open to visitors from ten A. M. to six P. M.

COLLEGE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK,

Formerly called the Free Academy, is located in Twenty-third street, corner of Lexington avenue; was established in 1848 by the Board of Education of New York, for the purpose of providing a higher education for such pupils of the common schools as pass a proper examination. It is supported entirely by the city. The building is a fine structure, in the style of the town-halls of the Netherlands, one hundred and twenty-five feet on Lexington avenue, with a depth of eighty feet on Twenty-third street. Will accommodate about one thousand pupils. Cost of building and grounds, $120,000.

NEW YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

This institution is located on the corner of Second avenue and Eleventh street. Was established in 1810. Its literary collections consist of rare and valuable books pertaining to the history and antiquities of the country, together with maps, coins, medals, etc.; also, a very choice library of twenty-three thousand volumes. Open to visitors from 10 A. M. till 5 P. M.

COOPER INSTITUTE.

This splendid building, of brown stone, was erected by Mr. Peter Cooper, in the year 1857, at a cost of six hundred thousand dollars. The structure covers an entire block, having a front on Eighth street of one hundred and forty-five feet; on Seventh street, eighty-six feet; and on Third and Fourth avenues, each one hundred and ninety-five feet. Mr. Cooper presented it, when completed, as a free gift, to a Board of Trustees, for the "moral, intellectual and physical improvement of his countrymen." There is a large hall for public meetings, lectures, etc., capable of seating three thousand persons, in what may be termed the basement. Although twenty feet below the sidewalk, yet it is well lighted, and far better ventilated than any of the theatres or public halls in New York. The upper stories contain galleries for paintings and sculpture, lecture-rooms, library and free reading-room, together with rooms for the School of Design for women. Open to all, free, from 10 A. M. to 9 P. M.

THE TOMBS.

This massive stone structure, in the Egyptian style of architecture, erected in 1838, is the City Prison. Located on the square bounded by Centre, Elm, Franklin and Leonard streets; has about one hundred and seventy-five cells. In the interior court-yard is where the execution of criminals take place. Open to visitors on application at the entrance on Franklin street.

HIGH BRIDGE.

This very fine and important structure is thrown across the Harlem river, about eight miles from the City Hall. It was erected in 1842, at a cost of one million dollars. The Bridge supports the pipes conducting the Croton water to the receiving reservoir in the Central Park.

It is one thousand four hundred and fifty feet in length, and one hundred and twenty feet high from the water. The material of which this imposing object is constructed is granite, and probably there is not to be found a finer piece of masonry in the country. This splendid bridge can be reached by the Harlem steamboats, or Third avenue cars to Harlem and thence by steamboat.

THE BIBLE HOUSE.

This gigantic edifice, occupying the entire square bounded by Third and Fourth avenues and Eighth and Ninth streets, is constructed of brick, with brown stone facings. It was erected in 1853, at a cost of three hundred thousand dollars. It is the property of the American Bible Society. Since the organization of the Society in 18 , it has put in circulation about ten million Bibles and Testaments. The building is accessible to strangers at all times, and the managers take great pleasure in conducting visitors through its various departments.

BLACKWELL'S ISLAND.

There is upon this Island the Penitentiary, Alms House, Lunatic Asylum and Work House; all of them built of granite, and very spacious structures. Tickets for admission to the Island can be obtained at the Alms House Department, in the Rotunda, near the Hall of Records.

WARD'S ISLAND.

Contains the Refuge and Nursery Houses and the State Emigrant Hospital. Permits to visit the Island procured from the Commissioners of Emigration, office at Castle Garden.

RANDALL'S ISLAND.

Here are the nurseries for the support and instruction of destitute children.

The elegant and massive structures which cover this famous group of islands make a striking feature in the landscape, as we sail up the East river. A very fine view of all the public buildings on these islands may be had by taking the Harlem boat at Peck Slip, East river.

POST OFFICE.

The New York Post Office is situated in Nassau, between Liberty and Cedar streets. It was formerly the Middle Dutch Church, erected in 1693. It has been used as a Post Office since 1843. The Office is opened continuously, except Sundays; then it is open from 9 to 10 A. M., and 12½ to 1½ P. M. There are six hundred Lamp Post Letter Boxes scattered throughout the city, from which letters are collected six times daily.

HALL OF RECORDS.

This rather imposing structure was formerly used as a prison. It is built of stone, stuccoed.

Located at the corner of Centre and Chatham streets. Now used for the purpose its name indicates.

MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE.

We regret to say the merchants of New York do not possess a very imposing place for meeting "on change." Their rooms are in Pine street, near Nassau. Exchange Sales Room, 110 Broadway.

ACADEMY OF DESIGN.

This splendid building is located on the corner of Twenty-third street and Third avenue, and is probably one of the most remarkable structures of the kind in the city. Erected at a cost of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars. The annual exhibitions of the Academy are held during the months of April, May, June and July, during which the building is open to the public for a small admission fee.

THE INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB.

INSTITUTION FOR THE BLIND,

Is located on Ninth avenue, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets. The structure of granite is of the Gothic order of architecture, and surrounded by a beautiful lawn, tastefully disposed with shrubs and flowers. The building can accommodate some four hundred pupils. They are instructed in the various branches pursued in our schools of learning. Many of them are very proficient in music, and others sustain themselves by their skill in some useful handicraft. Visitors are admitted on week-days from 1 to 6 P. M. Eighth or Ninth avenue cars run to it.

FIVE POINTS HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.

This wonderful and praiseworthy institution was founded through the exertions of Rev. Mr. Pease, in 1848. It is located 155 Worth street, near Centre, what was once the very Sodom of wickedness. Mr. Pease commenced his labors here under great difficulties, but, with great perseverance, he has achieved a wonderful success. Thousands of little wanderers have been taken from the surrounding abodes of vice and poverty and provided with good homes. In 1857 Mr. Pease retired from the House of Industry to take charge of the farm connected with the Institution, in Westchester county. Visitors are always welcome. Mr. S. B. Halliday is the present Superintendent.

FIVE POINTS MISSION HOUSE,

Built on the sight of the "Old Brewery," in 1852, is a fine brick structure, four stories, well adapted for the purpose for which it was constructed. It is under the control and management of the Ladies' Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The Institution has for its aim and object the gathering in and providing homes for the children of poverty and shame, with which that neighborhood abounds. It is located immediately opposite the Five Points House of Industry. Visitors admitted daily from 9 A. M. till 5 P. M.

HOWARD MISSION AND HOME FOR LITTLE WANDERERS.

This is probably the largest establishment of the kind in the city. Located at No. 37 New Bowery; was opened in 1861, since which time nearly seven thousand children have been received. Those to be sent to homes, remain day and night in the Mission; the others enjoy the benefit of the bath, wardrobe, dining and school-rooms, but do not sleep at the Mission. About five hundred are daily at the table. The Board of Managers represents all the evangelical denomination of Christians. Sustained by free-will offerings. Visitors admitted on application at the Home.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

This Society is doing a noble work in the reclamation of vagrant children. Its organization is very simple: a central office; agents to find poor children; schools to educate them and give them habits of industry; lodging houses to shelter, train and clothe them, and agents to convey them to homes in the West. It was organized in 1853, and since that time has provided homes for eleven thousand children. There are thirteen Industrial Schools connected with the Institution. The object of the Society is to teach the children various industrial pursuits, as well as to educate them.

It has under its charge the News Boys' Lodging House, at 128 Fulton street, and Girls' Lodging House, at 205 Canal street. Central office, No. 11 Clinton Hall, Astor Place.

MAGDALEN ASYLUMS.

There are three of these praiseworthy institutions in New York, located as follows: Eighty-eighth street west of Bloomingdale road; corner of Mulberry and Houston streets, and 22 West Houston street. The object of these Asylums is to provide a home for fallen women, who manifest a desire to retrace the wrong steps they have taken; and they are intended as a Home, not as a place of confinement. A Home where may be found kind looks, affectionate words, earnest entreaty and wholesome advice. A Home whose inmates, sheltered by good influences and withdrawn entirely from the scenes of dissipation, may carry out their resolves to forsake, with divine aid, the allurements of sin, and prove by their future lives the sincerity of their efforts.

LEAKE AND WATT'S ORPHAN ASYLUM

Is located on One Hundred and Seventeenth street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues. It was founded by the two individuals whose names it bears. The building is a very fine one, with about twenty-six acres of ground surrounding it; can accommodate two hundred children. Visitors admitted every afternoon. Can be reached by the Harlem cars.

WIDOWS' ASYLUM

Is located on Fourteenth street, near Second avenue. The object of the Institution is to provide a home for indigent old ladies over seventy years of age. One hundred dollars is charged as an entrance fee; then they are provided for during life without any additional expense. Open to visitors every day.

COLORED HOME,

For aged and indigent colored persons, is situated at the foot of Sixty-fifth street, East river. Visitors admitted on application.

Under the management of the Jews, and for the reception of poor Hebrew orphan children, is located on East Seventy-seventh street, near Third avenue. Visitors welcomed.

NEW YORK ORPHAN ASYLUM

Is situated on the Bloomingdale road, near Eightieth street. The building is one hundred and twenty feet by sixty, surrounded by ample grounds, commanding a fine view of the Hudson river. The Institution was incorporated in 1807. The present edifice was erected in 1840. Visitors admitted daily.

INSANE ASYLUM

Is also situated on the Bloomingdale road, near One Hundred and Seventeenth street. It occupies a beautiful and commanding sight, and its approaches and surroundings are admirably fitted to lighten the sense of depression and gloom so often associated with establishments of this kind. A visit to the Asylum will amply repay any one who either loves the beauties of nature, or the still greater beauties of beneficence in orderly, efficient and extensive action. Open to visitors daily.

COLORED ORPHAN ASYLUM.

This Institution formerly occupied a fine building on Fifth avenue, but it was destroyed by the mob in the riots of July, 1863. They are now located at the foot of One Hundred and Fifty-first street, North River. Strangers are always welcome.

ROMAN CATHOLIC ORPHAN ASYLUMS.

The Asylum for girls is located at the corner of Prince and Mott streets. For boys, corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-first street.

HOME FOR THE FRIENDLESS

Is situated on East Thirtieth street, near Fifth avenue. Is for the protection of deserted children, and adult persons who are in distress.

JUVENILE ASYLUM.

This beautiful edifice is located on One Hundred and Seventy-fifth street, near Tenth avenue. The Institution occupies about twenty acres of ground, which is in part cultivated by the children, who, during their stay in the Asylum, are instructed in all the branches of a common school education. There are about seven hundred children in the Institution. The Asylum can be reached by the Hudson River Road to Fort Washington.

The Institution has an annual revenue of about eighty thousand dollars, from which the Hospital is sustained, together with those patients who are able to pay. A charge of four dollars per week secures the best of nursing and medicine. Visitors admitted from 10 A. M. till 5 P. M.

ST. LUKE'S HOSPITAL

Is situated at the corner of Fifth avenue and Fifty-eighth street. This Institution is under the management of members of the Episcopal Church. No creed, color, or nation, is rejected. Open to visitors daily.

JEWS' HOSPITAL,

As its name indicates, is sustained by the Jewish denomination. Located at 158 West Twenty-eighth street. Open to visitors from ten A. M. till six P. M.

BELLEVUE HOSPITAL

Is located at the foot of East Twenty-sixth street.

LIBRARIES.

It is always a source of gratification to find men, whose daily avocations are of the most bustling and industrial nature, availing themselves of every leisure interval to cultivate and increase their means of intellectual enjoyment; and there can be no greater ornaments to a city than those literary and educational institutions which, springing from, and supported by, the people, are adapted to the public wants. It matters not whether the buildings are of brick, costly marble, or "plain rooms," their object consecrates and invests them with a host of pleasing associations. We especially allude to the many libraries located in various parts of our city, which are worthy to be compared with those of foreign countries as to the rare and valuable collections which they contain. Nearly all of these Libraries are accessible to strangers. A visit to these noble institutions, with their rich collection of books, will become a necessity to all who have any love for literature and art.

Astor Library.

This magnificent structure is located on Lafayette, near Astor place. Was founded by the munificence of John Jacob Astor, who left four hundred thousand dollars for that purpose. It contains about one hundred and twenty thousand volumes, of great variety and value. It is the largest library in the United States. Open to visitors from ten A. M. to 5 P. M.

The above firm are undoubtedly manufacturing at the present time the most DURABLE, as well as in other respects the most desirable Spoons and Forks in the market. They have succeeded in producing in Electro Plate all that softness and delicacy of finish, heretofore supposed to be peculiar to solid silver alone, and the most careful scrutiny cannot detect that their goods are not solid work. They are plated with pure silver on the finest quality<sup>d</sup> of nickel silver, and the weight of plate is subjected to such careful tests that the firm make a standing offer of $1000 for proof that any article of their manufacture and bearing their trade-mark is of a lower grade than that indicated by the stamp upon the back.

This firm also manufacture Dinner and Tea Services of the most reliable quality and beautiful design. Church Communion Ware, chaste, elegant and durable, is another specialty of the house.

ODD FELLOWS' HALL.

The most imposing Hall of the "Order" is located on the corner of Centre and Grand streets. It is constructed of brown stone, in the Egyptian, Grecian and Elizabethan style of architecture. Erected in 1849, and cost one hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. It is well worthy a visit. Strangers admitted second Tuesday in each month.

FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL.

Sugar-House Martyrs' Monument.

In Trinity church-yard stands the monumental tribute of the Church corporation to the honored "Sugar-House Martyrs." It is constructed of finely-cut and ornamented brown stone, presenting a graceful appearance, while it attracts the especial interest of every American patriot, from the fact that the ground immediately under and around it is rich with the ashes of our Revolutionary fathers.

Washington Equestrian Statue.

This bronze statue of the Father of his Country, by H. K. Brown, erected at a cost of thirty thousand dollars, is situated in Union square, enclosed by an iron railing.

Worth Monument,

Constructed of granite, forty feet high, in memory of General Worth, who fell in the war with Mexico, is located in Madison square, opposite Fifth Avenue Hotel.

FORTS AND FORTIFICATIONS.

There are quite a number of these objects of interest in the vicinity of New York, located as follows:

Fort Lafayette,

Rendered famous from its being the receptacle for State prisoners during the recent war, is situated about eight miles down the bay, in the Narrows.

Fort Hamilton,

Located opposite, on the Long Island shore, is a very fine fort, with two tier of casemates.

Fort Richmond,

On the Staten Island shore, opposite to Fort Lafayette, is the largest and handsomest structure of the kind around New York. It has four tier of casemates, and is pierced for about one hundred and eighty guns.

Fort Columbus

Is situated on the centre of Governor's Island.

Castle William

Is also located on Governor's Island at the water's edge—a round tower, six hundred feet in circumference, sixty feet high, with three tier of guns.

Fort Wood

Is located on Bedloe's Island, in the bay, opposite to Governor's Island.

Fort Schuyler

Is situated on Long Island Sound, fourteen miles from New York.

Fort Tompkins,

On Staten Island, in the rear of Fort Richmond, on an elevation of two hundred and fifty feet.

NEWSPAPERS.

The achievements of the last fifty years have been such that no local or temporary interest can satisfy the mind; everything is conducted on a grand scale. The extension of education, the progress of science, the facilities of communication and intercourse between nations, and, above all, the freedom of the Press, and its consequent wide and rapid circulation of news, has served to produce this extent of thought and purpose. In the United States the Press is supremely important. The activity and power of the Newspaper Press of the United States date their origin from the Revolutionary war. Previous to that event they were few in number, and barren of that interest, vigor and originality, so important a feature in those of the present day. Great Britain and the United Colonies having determined to settle their dispute by arms, both appealed to the people. Each had their partisans; but there were many independent or indifferent persons, whose support was valuable. Then it was the Press entered into the strife, and assumed that direction of public opinion which has continued ever since, and formed so remarkable a feature in modern political history.

There are about sixteen daily papers published in this city, the principal ones of which are—

HOTELS.

New York is justly noted for the number and elegance of its Hotels. There are about thirty of these magnificent establishments on Broadway. To the leading ones in the city will we direct attention.

Astor House.

This colossal edifice, located on Broadway, between Vesey and Barclay streets, was erected in 1836. It is built of solid granite, in the Doric order, with a front on Broadway of one hundred and eighty feet, and a depth of one hundred and twenty, of five stories high, at a cost of six hundred thousand dollars. It has accommodations for seven hundred guests. The Astor is the oldest of our first-class Hotels, and, since it was opened, has well sustained its high reputation

St. Nicholas.

This monument of architectural beauty is located corner of Broadway and Spring street. It is built of marble, in the Corinthian order, six stories high, two hundred feet front on Broadway, with a façade of surpassing elegance. It contains six hundred rooms, and can accommodate one thousand guests. The appointments in the St. Nicholas are without a fault; every thing being gotten up with a splendor and sumptuousness unequalled. Building erected in 1854, at a cost of one million dollars. As a security against fire, the whole establishment can be deluged with water in five minutes.

Metropolitan

Is situated on Broadway, corner of Prince street. This palatial structure, of brown stone, six stories high, was erected in 1850, at a cost of nine hundred thousand dollars. It is furnished throughout in the most splendid and expensive style, having all the accommodations and conveniences that the most luxurious taste could desire. Has about seven hundred rooms, and can accommodate one thousand guests.

Fifth Avenue.

This immense establishment, of white marble, located on Fifth avenue, opposite Madison square, occupies one of the finest sites in New York. It was erected by Mr. Paran Stevens, the well-known hotel proprietor, in 1858, at a cost of nine hundred thousand dollars. It is furnished throughout with an elegance and sumptuousness unequalled by any Hotel on this continent, and all its internal appointments and conveniences are unsurpassed. Has accommodations for eight hundred guests. All the rooms are well lighted and ventilated, and ready access may be obtained by a perpendicular railway, intersecting each story, in addition to the broad and capacious corridors and stairways, independent of the ordinary and usual approaches from floor to floor.

Hoffman House.

This is another elegant establishment, built of white marble, located on the corner of Broadway and Twenty-Fifth street, immediately opposite Madison Square. It is conducted on the European plan, and has excellent accommodations for about four hundred guests.

Its location is in the aristocratic portion of the city, and is central for all of the Eastern and Northern Railroads; forming a most convenient and delightful stopping place for travellers, while the beautiful grounds opposite render it an attrac-

Southern Hotel, formerly the Lafarge.

This popular house is situated on Broadway, opposite Bond street. It is constructed of white marble, with a frontage of two hundred feet, seven stories high, and completed in 1856 at a cost of $500,000. Has fine accommodations for six hundred guests.

The reputation of the Southern can be estimated by the fact that its "list" is always full. Those who may be so fortunate as to select this hotel during their residence in the city, will find its kind and courteous proprietor ever ready to contribute to their comfort and enjoyment.

New York Hotel

Is one of our oldest first-class houses. The building, located on the finest part of Broadway, extending from Washington to Waverly Place, is of brick, five stories high, with a front of five hundred feet. It is most commodiously and comfortably arranged for families and single persons, and is in the midst of elegant stores, and the most fashionable places of amusement. In its internal arrangements it is unsurpassed, and contains spacious accommodations for about four hundred guests. Messrs. Cranston & Hildreth are its proprietors, the former having been its worthy host for many years.

The Brevoort House,

On Fifth Avenue, corner of Eighth Street, is a noble and spacious Hotel, fitted up in elegant style, and being on the great avenue of fashion, commands a fine view of the beau monde. By a glance at the city map it will be seen that the central locality of this large and pleasant hotel secures a ready connection by railroad and stage with all the most desirable parts of the city from the Battery to Central Park.

The Everett House,

Located on the North side of Union Square and Seventeenth Street, from its position is a convenient and delightful place to stop, being not only in the aristocratic part of the city, but also contiguous to the Cars, Omnibuses, Places of Amusement, &c. The Everett has fine suites of apartments, as well as single rooms, with all the modern improvements and adornments of taste.

St. Denis Hotel.

Opposite Grace Church, and three blocks below Union Square, and the Academy of Music, is located the St. Denis. It is one among the very many handsome structures with which Broadway is lined, and occupies 76 feet on that thoroughfare and 120 feet on Eleventh Street. The Hotel is situated upon the most fashionable part of Broadway, and is the resort of the wealthy both of town and country. It contains over 150 large and handsome rooms, and is kept on the European plan. Meals served at all hours.

MARKETS.

New York is not especially noted for its markets. There are quite a number of them, but none worthy of special notice. There is a large amount of business done in the

Washington Market,

Located on the square bounded by Fulton, Vesey, Washington and West streets. Here it is the produce from the Jersey shores and Long Island are offered for sale from the wagons of the farmer. In the spring of the year it is very interesting to see the large number of these wagons gathered about the streets contiguous to the market.

Fulton Market,

A poor, dilapidated concern, which occupies ground worth twenty times the value of the building, is situated on the square bounded by Fulton, Beekman, South and Front streets. This market, together with Washington Market, is nothing but a mere shanty, a disgrace to the city. A splendid illustration of the manner in which the "City Fathers" look after the welfare of this great metropolis.

Tompkins Market.

This market is the only one of any account, being a very fine iron structure, located on Third avenue, between Sixth and Seventh streets.

Clinton Market,

At the foot of Canal street, North River.

Jefferson Market,

Corner of Sixth and Greenwich avenues.

Catharine Market

Occupies a square between Cherry, South and Catharine streets.

Centre Market,

This building is partially of brick, located on Centre. extending from Grand to Broome streets.

Chelsea Market,

Ninth avenue, near Eighteenth street.

CEMETERIES.

The salutary effects of ornate and well-preserved cemeteries on the moral taste and general sentiments of all classes, are a most valuable result, and seem to have been appreciated in all ages by all civilized nations. The Etruscans, the Egyptians, the Greeks, the Romans, and in modern times the Turks, all illustrate not only their skill in the arts and their intellectual excellence, but also their social affections and refinements, and all the gentler characteristics, by a studied attention to cemeteries for the dead. If we seek for authority more commanding in its influence, we may look to the patriarchs of Israel, who manifested a spirit of reverence and solicitude for the burial places of their dead, more enlightened, but not less active or pervading. Let us have the "field and the cave which is therein and all the trees which are in the field," and "that are in the borders round about, to be made sure for a possession of a burying-place." And there "Abraham buried Sarah his wife."

Greenwood Cemetery.

This beautiful resting-place of the dead is located on Long Island, about three miles from Fulton Ferry, or two and one half miles from South Ferry, from which points cars start for the cemetery direct every five minutes.

The cemetery contains about 400 acres, and is of undulating and varied character. The principal avenue is named The Tour, and by keeping this strangers will secure the most favorable general view. Attention is called to the guide-boards in the grounds, which will enable them more easily to tread their way through the retired but not less beautiful passages within this solemn enclosure. There are so many beautiful monuments, tombs and ornamental lots, that it is impossible to call special attention to any. Suffice it to say, that the surface of the earth anywhere in the same space does not contain so many memorials of such beauty and so varied in design, as are to be found placed over the remains of the 127,000 dead that have been laid at rest within this cemetery since 1838.

POLITENESS IN RAILROAD CARS.

The following Rules should be observed, to make travelling on Railroads comfortable :

1. Always show your ticket (without getting in a bad humor) whenever the conductor asks for it. Observe this rule, and it will pay.

2. A gentleman should not occupy more than one seat at a time.

3. Gentlemen will not spit tobacco juice in the cars where there are ladies; it soils their skirts and dresses.

4. Ladies without escort in travelling, should be very particular with whom they become acquainted.

5. "If your lips would save from slips,
Five things observe with care :
Of whom you speak,—to whom you speak,—
And how,—and when,—and where."

6. Whenever you see a fellow over-anxious for your comfort, and pushing himself forward, saying, "Are you travelling alone?—Allow me to," &c., &c.; just say to him, "Thank you, sir, I require no assistance." By observing this rule, ladies will often save themselves and others trouble.

7. Ladies travelling with children should invariably have a basket of eatables; a tumbler or goblet for the children to drink from, and keep the children in their seats.

8. Keep your head and arms inside the windows.

9. Never sit in a seat, in warm weather, with a man weighing 244 pounds.

10. Always carry greenbacks instead of individual promises to pay.

CUSTOM HOUSE.

11. Ladies who wear hoops should make them small before leaving home.

12. Never let your bandbox, valise or cloak occupy a seat, when there is a rack for them; it looks bad for you to occupy a whole seat when there are passengers standing without seats.

13. Always be polite to everybody while travelling; don't get in a bad humor.

14. Never give information without being asked, then you will not be contradicted.

15. When a lady enters the car, and there is no seat vacant, rise and proffer yours,—it is true politeness.

16. Never sit on the end of another person's seat with your back turned, talking to an opposite party;—it is disagreeable to the one whose seat you are thus obtruding yourself on.

17. Never smoke in a car where there are ladies—no gentleman would be guilty of such an act.

18. Never use profane language in a railroad car.

19. Never talk on politics in the cars;—it is usually disagreeable to some of your fellow travellers.

20. Never talk loud while the train is in motion; it may not annoy any one, but it will injure your lungs.

21. Never sit beside a person who is hard of hearing, and has never travelled any; get away, there are too many questions to be answered.

22. Making love should be done outside of railroad cars; by being too affectionate in the cars, people will talk.

TOUR OF THE HUDSON.

It is fortunate, for the gratification and the cultivation of the public taste for the sublime and beautiful in natural scenery, when our great highways of travel chance to lead through such wondrous landscape as does the journey up the Hudson River from New York to Troy. Even to the wearied or hurried traveller this voyage is ever one of pleasure, in its unique and constantly varying attractions; its thousand associations—legendary, historical, poetical and social.

Every possible facility is now at command for the passage of the Hudson, either by the steamer or by railway, morning, noon, and night. The commercial traveller, thinking more of his destination than of the pleasures by the way, will take the Hudson River Railroad, which lies on the eastern bank of the river, kissing its waters continually, and ever and anon crossing wide bays and the mouths of tributary streams. The pleasure-seeking tourist, in quest of the picturesque, and with time to enjoy it, will assuredly go by water.

Hudson River.

This noble river, styled the Rhine of America, on account of its bold and picturesque scenery, was named after its discoverer, Hendrick Hudson. In the fall of 1607 this Dutch navigator, with his barque, the Half Moon, might have been seen ascending its waters until he reached Albany. Its source is in the mountain regions of the Adirondacks. Its entire extent is about three hundred miles; its navigable length, from New York to Troy, is one hundred and fifty miles.

To the Hudson belongs the honor, not only of possessing the finest river steamers in the world, but of having borne upon its waters the first steamboat which ever floated, when Robert Fulton ascended the river in the Clermont, in 1807, just two centuries after the first voyage of Hendrick Hudson, in his good barque the Half Moon.

There is very much of especial interest and attraction to the traveller making a tour of the Hudson. Its waters are vocal with the hallowed reminiscences of our Revolutionary struggle, and along its banks linger memories of the noble and heroic deeds of our forefathers; its rocks and valleys are chronicled with the blood of the martyrs of freedom. To make the journey as interesting and instructive as possible, we will note the leading towns and more important objects of interest.

Supposing that we are accompanying the pleasure-seeker, and therefore have taken passage in one of the "floating palaces" which leave New York in the morning (which enables us to have a view of both sides of the river), we will first direct our attention to the

The need has long been felt of a Sewing-Machine that, while it should combine within itself the elements of beauty, simplicity, efficiency, and durability, should yet be sold at such a price as would place it within the reach of all.

In the "UNIVERSAL FAVORITE," we present such a machine to the public,—confident that all who purchase will find it to meet every reasonable expectation. It requires no recommendation from us; for wherever seen, its merits are instantly appreciated. It is established already as the "Ladies' Indispensable Companion," the "Poor Workingwoman's Friend," and the "Children's Special Institution;" while the cost—the important element in these days of high prices—is merely nominal.

If it possesses no other merit, it is unequalled as a beautiful, useful, and appropriate gift for a little girl. Each machine is perfectly adjusted and packed in a small box, with full and complete instructions how to use it. Orders per mail, accompanied with the above amount, will have prompt attention, and can be forwarded per Express at trifling cost, to any place in the country.

pices of Weehawken, with its grave and memories of the unfortunate Alexander Hamilton, who fell in the duel with Burr.

The Palisades

Next claim our attention. These grand bluffs, rising to the height of five hundred feet, follow in an unbroken line for a distance of twenty miles. The rock is trap, columnar in formation, like the famous Giants' Causeway in Ireland.

Fort Lee.

Ten miles up the river and opposite One Hundred and Sixtieth street, New York. Some interesting memories of the Revolution are awakened here. The anxious thoughts of Washington turned to this point during that eventful period. A large force of Americans, in retreating from Fort Lee, were overpowered, and either slain or taken prisoners by a superior force of Hessian troops.

Fort Washington,

Another spot of deep historical interest, lies opposite, on the eastern side. It fell into the hands of the British, November 16, 1776, and the garrison of 3,000 men became prisoners of war. Fort Washington is situated upon the highest part of Manhattan Island, between One Hundred and Eighty-first and One Hundred and Eighty-sixth streets.

Yonkers,

Seventeen miles up the river, eastern side, is a beautiful and picturesque spot, with its magnificent villas. In 1777 a naval action occurred in front of Yonkers, between the American and British forces.

Fonthill.

This "castle," which formerly belonged to Edwin Forrest, is just below Yonkers, and is now owned and occupied by the Roman Catholic school of Mount St. Vincent.

Hastings,

Twenty miles from New York, on the eastern side, is a pleasant little village, in great favor with the citizens of New York, who eagerly seek homes amid its pleasant places.

Dobb's Ferry,

Two miles beyond, and still upon the eastern bank of the river, is an ancient settlement. It derives its name from that of an old family, which once possessed the region and established a ferry. Remains of Revolutionary times still exist here.

Irvington and "Sunny Side."

This beautiful village, twenty-five miles from New York, is named after Washington Irving, whose unique little cottage, called Sunnyside, is close by upon the river bank, concealed from the view of the traveller by the dense growth of the surrounding trees and shrubbery.

Piermont,

Opposite, on the western bank of the river, is the outgrowth of the Erie Railroad, which place was formerly its grand terminus. The river here is three miles wide, and the shores, particularly upon the west, are so varied and bold as to present pleasing and attractive pictures.

Three miles back of Piermont is the town of Tappan, interesting as having been the headquarters of Washington during the Revolution, and as the spot, also, where Major Andre was imprisoned and executed. The house of the commander-in-chief and the jail of the ill-fated officer are still in good preservation. The spot where Andre was executed (October 2, 1780) is a short distance from the jail, which is now occupied as a tavern, under the title of the "'76 Stone House."

Nyac

Is the next village above Piermont, on the same side of the river. Red sandstone is quarried here in great quantities.

Tarrytown.

A very prosperous place, situated on the eastern shore, twenty-seven miles from New York. During the Revolution Tarrytown witnessed many stormy fights between marauding bands of both British and Americans. It was upon a spot near the village that Major Andre was arrested while returning to the British lines, after a visit to General Arnold. A simple monument, an obelisk of granite, indicates the place.

Sing Sing,

On the right, or western bank of the river, thirty-three miles from New York, from its elevated position, presents an imposing aspect. The State Prison is located about three-quarters of a mile below the village, and is in full view from the river. The buildings are large structures, erected by the convicts themselves, with material from the marble and limestone quarries which abound here. The main edifice is four hundred and eighty-four feet long, forty-four feet wide, and five stories high, with cells for one thousand occupants. The whole area occupied by the establishment is one hundred and thirty acres of ground.

The Croton enters the Hudson two miles above the village, where its artificial passage to the City of New York is begun.

Haverstraw,

Thirty-six miles up, is on the west side of the river. The manufacture of brick is carried on very extensively in this vicinity. We now touch upon sacred ground, as we re-enter amidst the scenes of our Revolutionary history, for in this vicinity is the famous battle-ground of

Stony Point.

The old light-house here, placed amidst the remains of the ancient fort, calls this scene to the notice of all passers. This fort fell into the hands of the enemy June 1, 1779. The Americans, however, determined to regain their lost possession. General Wayne, who commanded the proposed assault, is reported to have said to General Washington, "General, I'll storm hell, if you will only plan it." He did storm Stony Point, on the night of July 15th, 1779, and the next day he wrote to his commander that the fort and garrison were his.

Peekskill.

We now enter upon the commencement of the magnificent scenery of the Highlands. On the opposite or western side of the river looms up the rugged front of the Dunderburg Mountain, with other grand cliffs and precipices.

The village of Peekskill on the right, forty-three miles from New York, was named after John Peek, one of the early Dutch navigators, who mistook the creek, which comes into the river just above, for the continuation of the Hudson itself, and thus thinking himself at the end of his journey, ran his craft ashore and commenced his settlement.

Caldwell's Landing,

At the foot of Dunderburg Mountain, is memorable for the search so seriously and actively made for the private treasure which the famous Captain Kidd is said to have secreted at the bottom of the river here.

The Highlands.

This grand mountain group through which the Hudson now makes its way, extends over an area of about twenty-five miles. The landscape which these noble heights present, is of unrivalled magnificence and beauty. Passing round the point of Dunderburg, we see the small but picturesque Buttermilk Falls, on the west side. In the heart of the Highland Pass, and just below West Point on the west side, is

Cozzens,

A spacious and elegant summer hotel, which comes most beautifully into the pictures of the vicinage.

West Point,

From the unrivalled charms of its scenery, and its position as the seat of the largest military school in the United States, is one of the most charming spots on the Hudson. It is replete with interest too, as the centre of the important interests and incidents connected with the days of the Revolution. The Military Academy is in full view, occupying a noble plateau, 188 feet above the river. The remains of the old forts, Putnam and Clinton, together with the little glen called "Kosciusko's Garden," embellished with an obelisk erected to the memory of the noble Pole, are to be seen a short distance above the Academy. Near the steamboat landing may be seen the rock from which a chain was thrown across the river during the Revolution, to prevent the passage of the British vessels.

West Point, in the Revolution, was the great key of the river, which Arnold, then in command of the fort, would have betrayed into the possession of the enemy, but for the providential arrest of his co-plotter Andre, at Tarrytown below. The Military Academy was established by Congress in 1802, and is supported and controlled by the Government. West Point is fifty-two miles from New York.

Cold Spring and "Undercliff,"

Which now command our attention, are little above, on the eastern side of the river. The West Point Iron Foundry is located here. Undercliff was the residence for many years of the late general and poet George P. Morris. It is scarcely possible to find a spot of sweeter natural attractions than the site of Undercliff.

Cornwall and "Idlewild,"

On the west side, come first to our reach.

Cornwall is a rugged and picturesque little place, on the lofty Highland terrace. "Idlewild," the romantic home of N. P. Willis, is a little north of the village. In its multiplicity of charms, it is a retreat which any poet might be content to enjoy.

New Windsor,

On the western bank, just above Cornwall, is a place of historical interest. General Washington established his head-quarters here in 1779, and again in 1780.

Fishkill,

On the eastern side of the river, sixty-one miles from New York, is a pleasant little village. The old village of Fishkill is situated about three miles east of the landing. Two miles northeast of the landing is the Verplanck House, interesting as having once been the head-quarters of the Baron Steuben, and the place in which the famous Society of the Cincinnati was organized, in 1783.

On the opposite side of the river is

Newburgh,

Noted also as the head-quarters of General Washington. The house which he occupied is the boast of the town. It is in full view from the river, situated a little below the village. It was here that the Revolutionary Army was finally disbanded at the close of the war, June 23d, 1783.

New Hamburg

Comes next, on the eastern side. A little town, near the mouth of Wappinger's Creek. A tunnel, 1000 feet in length, through which the cars of the Hudson River Railroad pass, is to be seen just above the station.

Po'keepsie

Is seventy-five miles from New York, and the largest town between New York and Albany. It is built upon an eminence on the eastern side of the river. Settled by the Dutch in 1700. Professor Morse, of electric telegraph fame, and Benson J. Lossing, the historian, reside here.

New Paltz,

On the opposite side of the river, west, is a straggling little hamlet, of no special attraction.

Hyde Park.

This quiet little village, on the east side of the river, eighty miles from New York, is situated in the midst of a country of great fertility, and thronged with beautiful homesteads and sumptuous villas.

Rondout,

On the western side, one mile from the river, on Rondout Creek. The Delaware and Hudson Canal terminates here. The Rondout Creek is a singularly picturesque stream.

Kingston.

This town is situated (western side) on an elevated plain, three miles from the river. It was settled in 1663 by the Dutch. In the times of the Revolution it was burnt by the British. The first Constitution of the State of New York was framed and adopted in a house still standing at this place.

Rhinebeck

Is on the opposite side of the river and connected with Kingston by a ferry. Barrytown and Tivoli are small towns, on the east, above.

Saugerties

Is a handsome little village, on the west, at the debouchure of the beautiful waters of Æsopus Creek. We now pass Malden, on the left, and Germantown, on the right, and come to Oak Hill, a station on the railway for the opposite town of

Catskill,

At the mouth of the Catskill Creek, on the west side of the river. The village, which is a pleasant and thriving one, rises from the margin of the creek to an elevated site on the north, where it is dissipated in many beautiful country villas. Catskill is chiefly interesting to the tourist, as the point of detour towards the mountain ranges which lie over the valley, twelve miles westward. The Mountain House, upon the brink of a rocky ledge, two thousand and seven hundred feet

CHAPTER I

The first part of the book is devoted to a general survey of the subject. It begins with a definition of the term "philosophy" and then proceeds to a discussion of the various branches of the subject. The author then discusses the history of philosophy, from the ancient Greeks to the modern era. He then discusses the various methods of philosophy, from the deductive method to the inductive method. Finally, he discusses the various schools of thought in philosophy, from the Stoics to the moderns.

CHAPTER II

The second part of the book is devoted to a discussion of the various branches of philosophy. It begins with a discussion of metaphysics, which is the study of the nature of reality. It then discusses epistemology, which is the study of knowledge. Finally, it discusses ethics, which is the study of morality.

CHAPTER III

The third part of the book is devoted to a discussion of the various methods of philosophy. It begins with a discussion of the deductive method, which is the method of reasoning from general principles to specific conclusions. It then discusses the inductive method, which is the method of reasoning from specific observations to general principles. Finally, it discusses the dialectical method, which is the method of reasoning by the use of contradiction.

above the river, is in full view. In its pictorial attractions this is one of the most delightful points of our present tour, and we can commend to the traveller no pleasanter or more profitable summer excursion, for a day, or a month, than a visit to the Catskills, one of the grandest and most picturesque of the mountain ranges of the United States.

Hudson,

On the eastern side, one hundred and sixteen miles from New York, is one of the most important river towns. Just above the landing a bold promontory rises eighty feet above the river, upon which there is a beautiful park. Hudson is the chief terminus of the Boston and Hudson Railway. Passengers for the Shaker village, at New Lebanon, and Lebanon Springs, thirty-six miles distant, by the Hudson and Berkshire Road, and the Columbia Springs, only five miles distant, stop here.

Athens, on the west, and Stockport, Coxsackie, and Stuyvesant, on the east, are thriving little towns.

Kinderhook.

The village is situated five miles east of the landing, on the east side of the river. Here the late Martin Van Buren was born and died. His residence, "Lindenwold," is two miles south of the village. New Baltimore, and Coyeman's, on the west, Schodack, Castleton, and Greenbrush, on the east, brings us to

Albany,

The capital of the State, on the west. Albany was founded by the Dutch in 1614. It has a population of about eighty thousand. It is the great entrepot of the Erie Canal, from the west, and Champlain Canal, from the north, and is the centre of many lines of travel. The Dudley Observatory, located here, together with its public institutions, make it an interesting stopping-place for the tourist. Travellers for Sharon Springs will take the New York Central Railroad here, stopping at Palatine Bridge, fifty-five miles from Albany. For Richfield Springs, take the Central Road to Herkimer, eighty-one miles distant. For Avon Springs, Central Railroad to Rochester; Trenton Falls, Central Road to Utica. Also, for Niagara Falls, Central Railroad direct, three hundred and five miles.

Troy,

Situated at the head of navigation, is one hundred and fifty miles from New York, and a beautiful city of forty-five thousand inhabitants. It lies along the river for about three miles, and drops back a mile from east to west. It is a thriving city, with its large manufacturing interests; also, a great railway centre.

We will now accompany the tourist a little further north, to Saratoga, Lake George, and Lake

LIGHT HOUSE POINT
(HUDSON RIVER)

Champlain, observing, as we pass, the more prominent objects of interest.

The ride from Albany or Troy to the Springs is a most agreeable one, as the route crosses and follows the Hudson and Mohawk Rivers, as it passes Waterford, four miles above Troy, and near the Cohoes Falls, and thence continues upon the west bank of the Hudson, eight miles further, to Mechanicsville. It then crosses the canal, passes "Round Lake," and enters

Balston Spa,

Twenty-five miles from Troy. The mineral waters at this place are not so popular as they were formerly, those of Saratoga being generally preferred. Five miles distant is the Long Lake, a beautiful sheet of water, situated in the midst of charming scenery; it is five miles long, and one wide, and abounds with fish. We will now hasten on to

Saratoga Springs.

This is probably the most famous place of summer resort in the United States, frequented by Americans from all sections of the country, and by foreign tourists from all climes. There is nothing remarkable about the topography or the scenery of Saratoga; on the contrary, the place would be uninteresting enough, but for the virtue of its waters and the pleasures of its brilliant society. The health-giving Springs, of which the fame of Saratoga has been born, were discovered in 1792, though they were long before known to and considered of value by the Indians. There are eleven Springs in the vicinity of Saratoga. No charge is made for the water, except what visitors voluntarily give those who wait upon them at the Spring. The "chief end of man" at Saratoga is to drink and to dance,—the one in the earliest possible morning, and the other at the latest conceivable night. Among the pleasures outside of Saratoga is a jaunt to Saratoga Lake, six miles away. Here is to be found nice boating, and sometimes "make believe" to fish. The Lake is nine miles long, and about three in width.

A visit to Lake George is a delightful episode and variation in Saratoga life. Let us therefore take the cars to Moreau Station, fifteen miles distant, and thence by stage to

Glen's Falls,

Where we will stop and lunch. This is a pleasant village, nine miles from the Lake. This place is trebly interesting from its natural, its poetical and its historical character. The passage of the Upper Hudson here is through a rude ravine, with a descent of seventy-five feet over a rocky precipice nine hundred feet in length, which may be seen from the bridge in the village. When within three miles of Lake George we pass the storied waters of Bloody Pond, and near by is the historic stone called Williams' Rock. Near this rock Colonel Williams was killed in an engagement with the French and Indians, September 8, 1755. The slain (about one thousand) in this unfortunate battle were cast into the waters near by, since called Bloody Pond. It may be passed unnoticed, without being pointed out, as it is surrounded by foliage.

We are now brought, after a delightful ride, to

Lake George,

And stop at Caldwell, a little village at the head of the Lake; one of the most lovely places imaginable to spend the summer season. The Lake House and Fort William Henry Hotel are excellent places: the latter, a new and elegant structure, near the ruins of the old Fort on the right. About a mile southeast are the ruins of Fort George. These localities are seen from the piazza of the hotel, which commands also a fine view of the Lake, with its many islands. The passage of Lake George, thirty-six miles to the landing near the village of Ticonderoga, and four miles from the venerable ruins of Fort Ticonderoga, on Lake Champlain, is very delightful.

We will therefore bid good-by to Caldwell, at the head of the Lake, and proceed on our voyage down one of the handsomest and most delightful waters in the United States. The first object of interest which attracts our attention is Diamond Island. Here, in 1777, was a military depot of Burgoyne's army, and an encounter between the garrison and a detachment of American troops. Dome Island is passed in the centre of the Lake, twelve miles from Caldwell. General Putnam's army took shelter here while he went to apprise General Webb of the movements of the enemy at the mouth of the Northwest bay. About here is one of the most beautiful parts of Lake George. Just beyond, on the left, is Bolton, with an inviting place of sojourn, called the "Mohican House." Just above, on the east side, is the bold semi-circular palisades called Shelving Rock. Passing this picturesque feature of the landscape, we enter the "Narrows" at the base of the boldest and loftiest shores of Horicon. At this point, Black Mountain rises, with an altitude of two thousand two hundred feet. Emerging from the Narrows on the north, we approach a projecting strip of land called

Sabbath Day Point,

So named by General Abercrombie, from his having embarked his army on the spot on a Sunday morning. The place is remembered also as the scene of a fight in 1775 between the Colonists and a party of the French and Indians. Again, in 1776, Sabbath Day Point was the scene of a battle between some Americans and a party of Indians. As the boat passes the Point and the Summer Hotel at "Garfield's," Anthony's Nose is seen on the right, and on the left

TESTIMONIALS.

"The Waters Pianos are known as among the very best."
N. Y. Evangelist.

"We can speak of the merits of the Waters Pianos from personal knowledge as being of the very best quality."—
Christian Intelligencer.

"We have one of Mr. Waters' Pianos now in our residence, (where it has stood for years,) of which any manufacturer in the world might well be proud. We have always been delighted with it as a sweet-toned and powerful instrument, and there is no doubt of its durability; more than this, some of the best amateur players in the city, as well as several celebrated pianists, have performed on the said piano, and all pronounce it a superior and first-class instrument. Stronger indorsement we could not give." — Home Journal.

Roger's Slide,

A rugged promontory four hundred feet high, with a steep face of bare rock, down which the Indians, to their great bewilderment, supposed the bold Major Rogers to have passed when they pursued him to the brink of the precipice. This pass is very much like that of the Highlands of the Hudson. Two miles beyond is Prisoners' Island, where, during the French war, those captured by the English were confined; and directly west is Lord Howe's Point, where the English army, under Lord Howe, consisting of 16,000 men, landed, previous to the attack on Ticonderoga. We are now approaching the termination of our excursion on this beautiful Lake, and in a mile we reach Ticonderoga, whence stages run a distance of three miles over a romantic road to

Fort Ticonderoga, on Lake Champlain.

This fortification, the ruins of which are visible, was built by the French in 1756. It was a place of much strength; its natural advantages were very great, being surrounded by water on three sides, and having its fourth covered by a swamp, and the only point by which it could be approached by a breastwork. It was afterwards, however, easily reduced by an expedient adopted by General Burgoyne—that of placing artillery on Mount Defiance, on the south side of the Lake George outlet, entirely commanding the fort, from which shot was thrown into the midst of the enemy's works. Fort Ticonderoga was one of the first strongholds taken from the English at the commencement of the Revolutionary war. Colonel Ethan Allen of Vermont, at the head of the Green Mountain Boys, surprised the unsuspecting garrison, proceeded to the bedside of the Commandant and demanded the surrender of the fort. "In whose name, and to whom?" asked the astonished officer. "In the name of the Great Jehovah and the Continental Congress," spoke the intrepid Allen. The fort was immediately surrendered. It was recaptured by the British two years after, and held during the war.

After exploring the interesting ruins of this ancient fort, and dining at the excellent hotel which stands upon the margin of a beautiful lawn, sloping to the Champlain shore, the tourist may here proceed northward by steamboat, and view the many beauties of Lake Champlain;—to Burlington, Vermont, or Rouse's Point, and thence to Montreal, Canada, forty-seven miles distant by rail; or return by boat to Whitehall, at the head of the Lake, and thence to Rutland and the East; or return to Saratoga, by railroad; or, if preferred, return to Caldwell in time for tea.

We have thus far accompanied the tourist over many delightful places, and together enjoyed very many pleasant scenes, but now we must most respectfully part company, and confide to other hands the pleasure-seeker and tourist.
